

Lady Liberty National Coin Week Contest

Celebrate 2016 National Coin Week by participating in our Young Numismatist activity. Every participating young numismatist will earn a U.S. coin prize with a finalist in each of two age categories winning a grand prize.

The theme for 2016 National Coin Week is Portraits of Liberty: Icon of Freedom. Lady Liberty is an allegorical figure (a human representation of an idea or concept) present on many U.S. and world coins.

Your task: choose a woman who in your opinion best represents Liberty. Your choice can be someone from the past or present. You may choose someone based on how her actions and experiences reflect the fight for liberty and freedom from injustice, or someone who you think Lady Liberty should look like.

Please read and follow the directions below:

- Enter your submission into 1 of 2 age categories: 12 and under or 13 to 17.
- Include background information concerning your choice.
- Stress in your entry the reasons for your choice.
- Use paragraphs when writing down your thoughts. 400 words maximum.
- You may send an image of your choice but it is not required.
