

Numismatic Theatre Schedule Set for Boston

Numismatic Theatre, a popular part of the American Numismatic Association's convention education programs, has been finalized for the 2010 ANA World's Fair of Money, Aug. 10-14 in Boston. Numismatic Theatre consists of 30-40 minute presentations given by ANA members on a wide range of topics. Presentations will be held Aug. 11 and Aug. 13-14 in Room 209 of the Hynes Convention Center.

A highlight of the presentations will be "The Development and Use of the Screw Press for Coin Production," a two-hour panel discussion Aug. 13 from 3-5 p.m. Led by dealer and early U.S. coinage expert Brad Karoleff, the panel will discuss different aspects of early minting technology in the United States. Panelists include:

- John Dannreuther, author and former ANA Numismatist of the Year
- Dr. Richard Doty, curator, Smithsonian Institution National Numismatic Collection
- Bill Eckberg, noted half cent collector and researcher
- R. W. Julian, prolific numismatic writer and researcher
- Douglas Mudd, curator, ANA Edward C. Rochette Money Museum
- Craig Sholley, author famous for research into the U.S. Mint archives

Other highlights include "Money as a Social Reflection" with David Liu, 2010 ANA Harry W. Bass Jr. Numismatic Intern (Aug. 11, 9 a.m.); and "Engraver & Patriot Paul Revere: The Man & the Medal" with Jamie Frankl, professor of art at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte and designer of the official ANA 119th anniversary convention medal (Aug. 14, 4 p.m.).
